Myths and Realities of ANUNNAKI, Reptilians, Planet Nibiru and the Pleiadians

Sumerian mythology has given rise to numerous writings referring to the ANUNNAKI, the Reptilians, Planet Nibiru, and the Pleiadians. Some writings call forth these themes seriously carefully respecting the original Sumerian writings some whereas some other writings display a few fantasies... The popularization of these themes is also a subject of inspiration for literature Fantasy or Science Fiction... This creates considerable confusion among the general public who does not really know what is serious, what remains argumentative scientific writings and verifiable historical data, or what is tricky and fake... and all this for the greater happiness of Intelligence Services responsible for misinformation... or disinformation. So the goal of this article is to clarify this issue that has become quite nebulous... What is actually demonstrated today in the Sumerians writings? What assumptions can be seriously developed?

ANUNNA and ANUNNAKI

Sumerian mythology describes the gods who are named ANUNNA creatures from the sky. The term Anunna is the generic word for the gods. The name of ANUNNAKI means Anunna settled on the Earth (KI). We find these two words in the Sumerian texts; they refer to a real Sumerian myth... It is attested through historical documents, tablets with cuneiform writings.
Could the ANUNNA possibly be aliens?

Many authors will assume that the Gods may ultimately be alien beings. These alien beings whose origin no one so far has been able to identify the source through historical documents, or through the snippets of information we have about exocivilizations...

The analysis errors made by many authors, hoaxes and misinformation from official Intelligence Services, led to build a new contemporary UFO mythology... But so far, does this exclude the possibility that the Sumerians and other ancient populations would have been in contact with some exocivilizations? Shouln't we try to avoid an overly simplistic approach and the risk to “throw away the baby with the bath water”?

Have the ANUNNA possibly created man on earth?

Sumerian gods, the "ANUNNAKI", had planned to transform the human beings present on Earth before their arrival in order to transform them into slaves to their service.

An American writer named Zecharia Sitchin, developed through several books a long series of pseudo-scientific considerations and concluded that these human beings were actually monkeys turned into human slaves by the ANUNNAKI. The Kharsag texts, carefully translated by Anton Parks and published in his book Eden, show that this wild human was in fact a man, not a monkey. Concerning the transformation of this wild man into a docile slave there are multiple opportunities to explore...

Following Zecharia Sitchin, many authors unscrupulously asserted in a very categorical way that the ANUNNA would have genetically manipulated humans to alienate them. Some enlightened venal guys created juicy 'religions' to the delight of institutional debunkers... Assuming that elements of Sumerian mythology reflect this historical truth, an exocivilization has many ways to transform primitive human populations, without having to modify them genetically. An intervention on the human genome from an exocivilization is a simple hypothesis to interpret the Sumerian notion of "transformation" of the primitive human population. Moreover, such an eventuality in its reasonable assertion would be regarded as a small epigenetic change quite reversible after a few generations, or even as some very minor gene modifications.

Would an experienced exocivilization consider it has the right to intervene on the genome of any indigenous human species? This assumption, under both a eugenic and interventionist vision seems at least quite odd with the necessary intellectual maturity expected from an exocivilization able to achieve interstellar travel and fully aware of the interdependence of all species in the human cosmos.
Furthermore, this hypothesis is also inconsistent with the Oomomen’s documents that attest ethics of human exocivilizations and rules overseen by the most advanced humans of the cosmos. According Oomomen, the DOOKAians would observe our planet and actively participate in a comprehensive system of observation and protection of the Earth. This includes multiple alien species; it would play a role of coordination and arbitration for the scientific missions of different aliens that come to observe us. “There is a race of OEMMII whose technology is beyond our understanding and that watches over different planets by scanning the OUEWA (interplanetary ships) which make incursions in their skies.” (NR13, 14/04/2003). (cf. The PAX GALACTICA “Presence: UFOs, Crop Circles and Exocivilizations”)

In conclusion suppose we, terrestrial human beings, were exiled on a planet in the company of natives. Suppose we would intend to submit them intelligently; our common sense would likely tell us to get them under control with psychotronic techniques and devices... those already available and used on Earth by intelligence services... This would be much simpler and much more effective than genetic manipulation of an unknown biological species, whose effects could be substantially unpredictable...

In the Sumerian mythology, the project of turning humans into slaves fails thanks to the intervention of a character called ENKI, who will give people the means to regain their freedom by educating them and providing them a big secret. This secrecy seems to have been the knowledge of metallurgy (see "The Awakening of the Phoenix" and "Eden" by Anton Parks). Enki will be assisted by several women of his clan, as his mother and Ninmah Mamitu-Nammu, the matriarch of the City of Kharsag. No text says that Enki is a Anunna god. Enki was a quite different being, like his creator AN.

In the Sumerians minds the ANUNNA gods’ planets were "Mountains of Heaven". The Duku (Doo-Koo) "Holy mound" or "Holy Mountain" is the origin of the Anunna. This planet is the very place where the ANUNNA gods had been created by AN (Enki’s father) and where started the great rebellion of young ANUNNA gods against the old gods represented by Tiamat, the Supreme Queen.

These young ANUNNA gods themselves have in turn a pretty complex origin. Enki’s nature is very mysterious, even in the Sumerian tablets... The Nungal were the Watchers of the Bible and according to Anton Parks would be the servants of Osiris and Horus in Egypt. In Egyptian language Osiris’ and Horus’ followers are the Shemsus (from the Egyptian word “Shms”, meaning “to follow, to accompany”). They were divided into several groups. In the apocryphal texts they would be the Giants. The Egyptian Shemsus would be near 2.10 m tall, in a time when normal height of humans ranged between 1.50 m and 1.65 m. They were there to protect the king Osiris and Horus. Anton Parks showed in his works that Enki was Osiris in Egypt. The differences in height can highlight different ethnic groups or races. Neanderthal man, for example, had a significantly larger average height (about 1.85 m) than the average Homo sapiens (about 1.60 m) who lived in the same period. Similarly, the man of Flores was very small, about one meter tall. This supports the hypothesis that the Shemsus were a specific ethnic group. The Egyptian Shemsus could have possibly been an extraterrestrial clan called the Nungal? This is a hypothesis deserving to be studied among others...

The ANUNNAKI and planet Nibiru

As retaliation the pro-slavery ANUNNAKIs banished ENKI who had to flee. As explained by Anton Parks in his books, neither tablet mentions that Enki fled to a planet called Nibiru. Nor that planet named Nibiru was the Anunna's planet. This is one of Zecharia Sitchin’s plain invention that can be found, among others places, in his book The Lost Book of Enki where he mentions a series of tablets that do not even exist...

Zecharia Sitchin deceived his readers with a lie and invented these "tablets" to provide a false evidence for the existence of Nibiru – an idea constructed in his first book The Twelfth Planet. The Lost Book of Enki turns to be a monumental scam. Since then a lot of media, magazines have taken this idea of "Nibiru – Planet of Anunna". As stated Anton Parks, the only heavenly place mentioned in the tablets as the Anunnas’ one is the Duku and, in the Sumerian mythology, Enki did not flee to Nibiru, but to Africa, specifically to Egypt. In Sumer, the secret and aquatic temple of Enki is called Abzu while in Egypt the aquatic temple of Osiris was in the holy city of Abdju (Abydos). Anton Parks was able to make a chronology of Nungal-Shemsus in his book *The Rise of the Phoenix."

There is obviously no connection either, between the false planet Nibiru and true planet Xena, which is beyond Pluto.

But a fortuit irony can also be found in the Oomomen documents. Indeed, as explained in the video documentary Presence: UFOs, Crop Circle and Exocivilizations planet Xena discovered in 2003 by our astronomers, had been mentioned 25 years earlier, beyond Pluto, in 1979, in documents allegedly from an exocivilization from the planet Ummo... Simple coincidence? Pure speculation? The planet Xena has a very atypical ecliptic that made it very difficult to be discovered. These same Oomomen's documents gave the orbital position of this unknown planet 25 years before the discovery of its existence... A simple probabilistic evaluation of such an event makes it absolutely impossible for this level of predictability... a quarter century before the effective discovery the planet Xena.
The ANUNNAKI and the Pleiades

The Pleiades together with its supposed Pleiadians inhabitants are classical derivative artifacts resulting from a disinformation operation which mixes, as

To the layman eye, the Pleiades are just seven stars in the sky. For an astronomer, it’s a group of several thousands of stars... a group of some three thousand suns located at about 450 light years away. Most likely such a group could include at least a solar system... maybe hosting an exocivilization. This is even highly likely.

However, from a semantic point of view, talking about "Pleiadians" is absolute nonsense... Which exocivilization in this constellation are we talking about?

References to the Pleiadians are to be taken with great caution... If we refer to the information contained in the Oomomen documents, we can see that the most distant exocivilizations who visit us are not located more than 150 light years. With the usual means of our visitors and cosmological constraints, that requires very long trips of about 10 years. A journey of 450 LY would imply a trip of about 30 Earth years. However, even if such a trip is possible, such a duration, regardless of the longevity of human beings being involved, would make it very difficult even for our friends from outer space... Among these multiple exocivilizations from the Pleiades, even if a humanoid phenotype seems likely, it is probable that such a phenotype is not identical to Earth’s Homo sapiens. Simple matter of probability...

Not a single Sumerian tablet explicitly mentions the Pleiades. Nevertheless, several ancient clay seals associate the Anunna gods to the 7 visible stars that are supposed to be the Pleiades. For Anton Parks, Duku was in the Pleiades. Later, when the gods settled on Earth, they gave their city built in the mountains of Taurus the name Duku (or Dukug) in tribute to their place of origin (cf. tablets translated in the book Eden). The Anunna and Nungal might have ended up on Earth, as a result of the battle against their queen Tiamat (see text of the Enuma Elish). The ANUNNAKI are a group of warriors who expatriated to Earth because of the war. At first, they had nothing else with them that the basic material that was in their "flying trolleys". Exiles with so limited rudimentary means needed to take advantage of the local workforce...
The ANUNNAKI and Reptilians

In the mythology of UFO disinformation, the aliens Anunna would have a human form, and the Illuminati would be their descendants.

According to the Ummo documents we can understand that our planet is in the hands of three major human oligarchic groups (the Western world, the Russians and the Chinese) all of them are "dangerous, cynical and corrupt." (ref. D1378).

The hypothesis of extraterrestrial origins of these oligarchic groups seems wacky to me. My feeling is that, once more, disinformation is at work trying to hide these dangerous oligarchic groups – truly terrestrial –, behind a smoke screen of preposterous Illuminati aliens... This being another good reason to give full powers to these dangerous oligarchic groups who would be glad to appear as the ‘protectors’ of the poor Earth’s citizens against the purported viciousness of Illuminati aliens...

A worldwide accepted dictatorship would be like icing on the cake of a Machiavellian maneuver... Machiavelli teaches that the prince should be feared, but still not be hated. If he is hated, the people will turn against him; only if he is feared he will maintain his authority and power. So, from this point of view, it is a good practice to maintain fear, without turning it into hatred. A people kept in fear remains "calm". He dares not stand up against the power. A people who begin to hate his sovereign will seek to overthrow him and he will follow those who lead the revolt. All tyrants of humanity know that. Playing with insecurity and using fear requires calculating, cunning and Machiavellian skills.

Concerning the Reptilians who also embody disturbing characters, Zecharia Sitchin had quarreled with David Icke about this subject. Zecharia Sitchin has knowingly ignored the various Sumerian records describing gods who have the form of a "crocodile" or, by extrapolation, a "reptilian" nature. Zecharia Sitchin wanted his theory fits with the Bible. To him the gods could not be in the form of the Biblical Serpent! But seeing that the "reptilian tide" was gaining momentum, he did not insist too much and ended by avoiding the subject just to take advantage of it and to surf on the wave.

Several hypotheses can be put forward to explain why the Anunna gods are sometimes represented with the form of a "crocodile". The first assumption is that the references to reptilian-like animals and, possibly, their connection to the human race are the remnants of a distant collective memory conveyed through the ages. (See book by Anton Parks EDEN p53). The first Jerusalem Bible texts themselves seem clearly to rely on the Sumerian writings. It is likely that they were in fact the first vectors of a written transposition of a long oral tradition. The memory of traditional knowledge seems to have conveyed through the ages the idea that reptiles had preceded mammals. This ancestral knowledge broadly confirms the modern science of the twentieth century including cerebral evolution with the first brain triune theory of Paul MacLean in 1969. By the way, this highlights that our ancestors, far from being idiots in animal skins, armed with a club, were on the contrary, very clever when observing the world and analyzing it... If that had not been the case, mankind wouldn’t have yet reached our present stage of development...

One can nevertheless make an objection to this first hypothesis, while formulating a second one. The racial dissymmetries highlight different ethnic groups. Neanderthal man, for example, had a significantly larger average height (about 1.85 m) that the average Homo sapiens which was his contemporary (about 1.60 m). Similarly, the man of Flores had a very small average height, about one meter. This fact makes us to consider as quite plausible the assumption that the Egyptians Shemsus were a specific ethnic group.

The Sumerians refer to the “giant snakes with ruthless jaws”. Did they find dinosaur fossils sufficiently evocative of the past of these carnivorous animals? Or could they have had other sources of information? Besides we can ask ourselves why and how these “furious dragons” could have transformed themselves to become “like the gods”? Might the Egyptian Shemsus have been a clan of extraterrestrials called Nungal? This is a hypothesis that certainly deserves to be studied among others...

First conclusions

The theories of Zecharia Sitchin have reached a great popularity because the author started by doing a good quality scientific work. His research was based on the analysis of Hebrew texts deriving from the Sumerians ones and interpretations of Sumerian cuneiform documents. Afterwards though, our researcher kept on traducing Hebrew words and Sumerians texts without mastering these languages enough. Indeed, despite his apparent good will, Zecharia Sitchin makes serious errors of translation, at the point of even suspecting that he knew how to translate the Sumerian... He never used, in any of his books, a cautionary formulation such as ‘here’s my own translation of that text...’ or similar; his translations seem to come out of nowhere, often without any reference. This is the case for translations either from Hebrew, that he did not master very well, or from Sumerian, where mistakes are even more damaging and preclude a real understanding of the texts... Zecharia Sitchin reached such a level of misinterpretation and speculations that he just ended in telling nothing more than a nice story... but very far from the reality of the original texts. The rantings of Zecharia Sitchin led him to create a new contemporary UFO mythology that is certainly regarded as delightful by Intelligence Services in charge of disinformation... But is all this enough to exclude the possibility that the Sumerians and other ancient peoples might have been in contact with exocivilizations? Don’t we risk to take an overly simplistic approach and don’t we risk to “throw away the baby with the bath water”? This is exactly what Intelligence Services would like us to do...

New Perspectives

For example, we discussed the many elements that may suggest that Native Americans Ashiwi have been in contact with an exocivilization, about 3000 years ago (see article DENOCLA Roger Denis - The Indian Ashiwi (or Zuni) and extraterrestrials). The Sumerians and the peoples of the Indus valley in that period (approximately – 6,000 to – 5,000 years BC) had highly developed cultures potentially interest for visitors from outer space...

What would be the elements that might reveal a potential contact with exocivilizations? Sumerian mythology says that the ANUNNAKI gods are “Crocodile-like” hominid beings in some seals (small Akkadian or Sumerian seals on clay, printed in pieces of clay) that the Sumerian gods had a reptilian appearance, but it is never clearly said in the texts. A few texts from Kharsag translated by Anton Parks in EDEN show Enki and Ninmah bearing reptilian names with some "crocodilian" physical descriptions together with some references where characters like Inanna-Ishtar and her lover Dumuzi are reported to have faces or eyes of a Umshumgal (Great Dragon). By imaginative extension, the "crocodilian" hominid is called "Reptilian" in the mythology of David Icke and some others...

As we explained in the book "Presence: UFO, Crop circle and Exocivilizations" the Oomomen's documents mention the visit of humanoid beings that have a "scaly skin". This evokes obviously a physical "Reptilian" characteristic, but a scaly skin is in no way an indication of the class of a living being. A humanoid with a "scaly skin" could well be a mammal... or a fish!

Another disturbing element which could also support the hypothesis that the Sumerians might have had a contact with this kind of visitors from outer space is the chronology mentioned in the Oomomen’s documents. Indeed they indicate that ET humanoids called by them "2ians" have been visiting the Earth for 30,000 years. They are supposed to come from a star located 47 LY away, and have a large height, a scaly skin, which is also fully compatible with the chronology and the Sumerian texts' data. As indicated by Anton Parks, the Followers of Enki, the Egyptian Shemsus are about 2.10 m while the height of normal humans ranged between 1.50 m and 1.65 m...
Conclusion

We must beware of hasty and simplistic conclusions, and beware of conventional ideas conveyed perniciously to confuse... And always ask: “Who’s gonna get the benefits?”

Although Sumerian mythology had only tenuous historical basis, it has nonetheless been a founding mythology of the great religious texts of the Middle East.

This greatly undermines these religious dogmas and the simple assumption that this mythology may also have a close link with some exocivilizations could be a fatal blow to anthropocentric dogma...
